

I am so sorry...

I am sorry your loved one went away.

For whatever reason he could not stay.

These are the trials we go through.

It is not something we would like to do.

Sometimes life can be nothing but pain.

We search for the Son but all we get is rain.

I know it seems impossible and we wonder why.

It is days like this where we must look to the sky.

I know of life's challenges for Jesus was there as well.

From the garden to the cross this is no fairy tale.

When I saw your tears my heart did ache.

I felt as if my heart died I felt your heart break.

I want you to know though I didn't have the right words to speak.

It hurt me to see your tears for I am humble and meek.

I prayed with all my heart but I should have done better.

I pray Jesus will comfort you during your stormy weather.

I know in all I write.

I wish I could comfort you with all the words on my site.

Sometimes I ramble on but I don't speak a thing.

If comfort were beauty it is not found in a diamond ring.

I am sorry for your suffering because I am so familiar with your pain.

We go through these trials we can't break like a ball attached to a heavy chain.

Suffering last so long but then we see the Son.

Christ died and cried for you, to our God you are His number one.

Written by: Dale Lee Gordon November 19th 2015 www.coloryourworldwithlove.com